Hue folk singing (evening)

Hue is known as one of the cradles of the nation's traditional music. For that reason, the best way to relax in Hue in the evening is to attend a folk-song performance on the Perfume River. Originally from the Ly, Tran and early Le dynasties, Hue folk singing has been a unique combination of folk songs and classical music, which strongly developed during the reign of Tu Duc (1848-1883). The genre now becomes popular because it expresses the deep feelings and aspirations of the people living by the Perfume River and Mount Ngu Binh.

Hue royal music and dinner (evening)

Visitors will have a chance to dress up in Vietnamese regal costume for an unforgettable dinner, where you are all treated like kings, queens and mandarins. While you enjoy Hue royal dishes served to only royal families before, a troupe will perform Hue royal music and dancing with traditional instruments. There are more than 15 different dances meant to make offerings, bestow congratulations, and entertain guests. Recognized as a world intangible cultural heritage by UNESCO in 2003, the genre is extremely emotional music and has a very unique timbre, which brings the atmosphere back to bygone times. It is arranged for groups of over 10 persons each only.

Hue city tour (half day tour)

Option 1

Pick up at your hotel for a half-day city tour of Hue. Visit the Royal Citadel, built in 1804 on a site chosen in accordance with geomancy. The tour of Imperial City features Flag Tower, Noon Gate, Nine Dynastic Urns, Nine Holy Cannons, Thai Hoa Palace (Palace of Supreme Harmony), and Forbidden Purple City. The next stop is Thien Mu Pagoda, one of the oldest ancient architectural structures for religious worship in Hue. Then drop into the lively Dong Ba market before driving back to your hotel.

Option 2

Pick up at your hotel for a half-day city tour of Hue. The highlights include the elaborate mausoleums of King Tu Duc (ruled 1848 - 1883) and King Khai Dinh (ruled 1916 - 1925). The monuments, designed by the kings themselves, were also used as holiday retreats during their lifetime. Drop off at your hotel. End of service.
